MILWAUKEE DAILY SENTINEL.

VOLUME VIII.—NEW SERIES. MILWAUKEE, FRIDAY MORNING, SEPTEMBER 24 1852 WHOLE NUMBER 2394

Milwaukee Daily Sentinel.

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING, (SUNDAYS EXCEPTED,) BY

RUFUS KING & CO.,

AT THE OFFICE,

Nos. 205 & 207 EAST WATER STREET,

CORNER OF WISCONSIN STREET,

IN THE SECOND, THIRD, AND FOURTH STORIES OF LUDINGTON'S NEW BRICK BLOCK.

TERMS:

THE DAILY SENTINEL will be left at the door of City Subscribers at SIX DOLLARS a year, payable Quarterly or 50 Cents a Month; or, 12½ Cents a Week, INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE.

TRI-WEEKLY SENTINEL—THREE DOLLARS a year, INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE, AND THE PAPER DISCONTINUED WHEN THE PERIOD FOR WHICH IT IS PAID, EXPIRES.

WEEKLY PAPER—TWO DOLLARS a year, INVARIABLY IN ADVANCE, AND THE PAPER DISCONTINUED, WHEN THE PERIOD FOR WHICH IT IS PAID, EXPIRES. To CLUBS of TEN or MORE, to one address, the Weekly will be sent for ONE DOLLAR A COPY.

TO OUR ADVERTISERS.

IN ORDER that there may be no misunderstanding in relation to Advertising, we have state the rates determined upon in our daily papers, from Jan. 1st, 1851:

1 square, (per year)	$12 00	1 square,	2 weeks,		$2 75
1 " 6 months,	10 00	1 "	1 "		1 50
1 " 3 "	6 00	1 "	5 times,		1 38
1 " 2 "	4 50	1 "	4 "		1 25
1 " 1 "	3 00	1 "	3 days,		1 00
1 " 10 weeks,	2 50	1 "	2 "		0 75
1 " 1 month,	1 00	1 "	1 "		0 50
1 " 2 weeks,	2 00

Twelve lines Nonpareil (or less) make a square. Leaded Advertisements, or "after reading matter," 50 per cent. advance on the above rates.

One sqr. for a year, with a change once a week, $25; 2 sqrs. $50; 3 sqr. with a change every day, $50; 2 sqrs. $100; 3 sqrs. with four changes a year, $75; (DAILY PAPER NOT INCLUDED.) No paper will be discontinued (unless at the discretion of the proprietors) until all arrearages are paid.

Persons wishing to discontinue their yearly or casual advertising, MUST give notice at the Counting Room. All yearly advertisers discontinuing their advertising before the year is out, will be charged at the above rates.

The privilege of Annual Advertisers is limited to their own immediate business, and all advertisements for the benefit of other persons, or on other business, must be paid for at the usual rates.

Communications, the effect of which is to promote private interests, to be paid for at the rate of 50 Cents per square for a single insertion.

In all cases where advertisements are sent in, marked "Till Forbid Weekly," they will be charged 50 Cents per square for the first insertion, and 25 Cents for each subsequent insertion in the Weekly.

Advertisements not accompanied with written directions, will be inserted one month, and charged accordingly.

RUFUS KING,
WM. E. CRAMER & CO.
CARY & ROUNDS,
S. M. BOUTH.

☞ All letters and communications must be post paid.

SCOTT & GRAHAM.

TUNE—"Nelly Bly."

In Baltimore the Whigs agreed
Upon their candidate,
And mean that he shall be the man
To guide the ship of State.
He bears a name that is without
A blemish or a spot,
A patriot, hero, statesman sage—
Who else but WINFIELD SCOTT.

CHORUS—Hie Lokies! ho Lokies!
Listen while we sing,
Hurrah! hurrah! for noble Scott,
And down with Pierce and King!

Two Generals are in the field,
Frank Pierce and Winfield Scott—
Some think that Frank's a fighting man,
And some think he is not—
"Tis said that when in Mexico,
While leading on his force,
He took a sudden skedaddle fit
And tumbled off his horse.

Hie, Lokies! Ho, Lokies, &c.

But gallant Scott has made his mark
On many a bloody plain,
And patriot hearts beat high to greet
The Chief of Lundy's Lane;
And Chapultepec is classic ground,
Our British neighbors know,
And if untold hear of later deeds,
Go ask in Mexico!

Hie, Lokies! Ho, Lokies, &c.

Now boys, we'll go the nominee,
And whip our Pierce and King;
From Maine to California
We'll make the welkin ring;
We'll give the Lokies pound fleet 'soup,'
Of which so much we've read,
And if they shouldn't like our soup
We'll give them Graham bread.

Hie, Lokies! Ho, Lokies, &c.

Then let us enter on the fight,
Our cause is just and high;
Let's show our foes, the 'Taws' we raise
Will make the 'feathers' fly.
The gallant scout who leads the van,
Is honest, faithful, true;
And he has got the people's heart—
So we say—what say you?

Hie, Lokies! Ho, Lokies, &c.

Then, boys, hurrah for Winfield Scott,
The hero the great Whig troop,
And only taken, when dog-tails,
A day's plate of soup!
Who never counts his enemies,
And never knows a fear,
But goes his foes a-raking fire,
In front and in the rear!

Hie, Lokies! Ho, Lokies, &c.

Now if you'll work, you gallant Whigs,
For Scott and Billy Graham,
We'll only let the Locos talk
Of those who've shed the day'm.
And when the 'fainting' Pierce boys talk
Of 'mothers' day and night,
Just let them know, in Scott's war-hat,
There's not a feather white.

Hie, Lokies! Ho, Lokies!
Listen while we sing,
Hurrah! hurrah! for noble Scott,
And down with Pierce and King.

PART VII.

CHAPTER XX.—A NEW LODGER.

CONCLUDED.

"Still, Tony, you were on the wrong side of the post then," remonstrates Mr. Guppy.

talking about nothing else in the gig."

"Guppy," says Mr. Jobling, "I will not deny it. I was on the wrong side of the post. But I trusted to things coming round."

That very popular trust in flat things coming round! Not in their being beaten round, or worked round, but in their coming round! As though a lunatic should trust in the world's coming triangular!

"I had confident expectations that things would come round and be all square," says Mr. Jobling, with some vagueness of expression, and perhaps of meaning too.

never did. And when it came to creditors making rows at the office, and to people that the offing rose dealt with making complaints about dirty trifles of borrowed money, why there was an end of that connection. And of any new professional connection too; for if I was to give a reference to-morrow, it would be mentioned, and would sew me up. Then, what's a fellow to do? I have been keeping out of the way, and living cheap, down about the market gardens; but what's the use of living cheap when you have got no money? You might as well live dear."

"Better," Mr. Smallweed thinks.

"Certainly. It's the fashionable way; and fashion and whiskey have been my weakness, and I've been kept down by 'em," says Mr. Jobling.—"They are great weaknesses.—Damme, sir, they are great. Well!" proceeds Mr. Jobling after a defiant pause, "I'm not going to make a confidant of my visit to his ram-and-water, "what can a fellow do, I ask you, but enlist?"

Mr. Guppy comes more fully into the conversation to state what, in his opinion, a fellow can do. His manner is the gravely impressive manner of a man who has not committed himself in life, otherwise than as he has become the victim of a tender secret of the heart.

"Jobling," says Mr. Guppy, "myself and our mutual friend Smallweed—"

(Mr. Smallweed modestly observes, "Gentlemen both" and drinks.)

"Have had a little conversation on this matter more than once, since you—"

"Say, got the sack?" cries Mr. Jobling, bitterly.

"Say it, Guppy. You mean it."

"No—no! Left the Inn." Mr. Smallweed delicately suggests.

"Since you left the Inn, Jobling," says Mr. Guppy; "and I mentioned, to our mutual friend Smallweed, a plan I have lately thought of proposing. You know Snagsby, the stationer?"

"I know there is such a stationer," returns Mr. Jobling. "He was not ours, and I am not acquainted with him."

"He is ours, Jobling, and I am acquainted with him," Mr. Guppy retorts. "Well, sir! I have lately become better acquainted with him, through some accidental circumstances that have made me a visitor of his in private life. Those circumstances it is not necessary to offer in argument. They are not necessary to you, nor to me, nor to any one, whether he is a smuggler, or a receiver, or an unlicensed pawnbroker, or a money lender—all of which I have thought likely at different times—it might pay you to knock up a sort of knowledge of him. I don't see why you shouldn't go in for it, when everything else suits."

Mr. Jobling, Mr. Guppy, and Mr. Smallweed, all lean their elbows on the tables, and their chins upon their hands, and look at the ceiling. After a time, they all drink, slowly lean back, put their hands in their pockets, and look at one another.

"If I had the energy I once possessed, Tony!" says Mr. Guppy with a sigh. "But there are chords in the human mind—"

Expressing the remainder of the desolate sentiment in rum and water, Mr. Guppy concludes by resigning the adventure to Tony Jobling, and by reopening the adventure to Tony Jobling, and by informing him that, during the vacation and while things are slack, his purse, "as far as three or four things are slack, his purse, "as far as three or four things are concerned, goes," will be at his disposal, or even five pound goes," will be at his disposal, or even five pound goes," will be at his disposal. "For never shall it be said," Mr. Guppy adds with emphasis, "that William Guppy turned his back upon his friend!"

The latter part of the proposal is so directly to the purpose, that Mr. Jobling says with emotion, "Guppy, my trump, your fist!" Mr. Guppy presents it, saying, "Jobling, my boy, there it is!" Mr. Jobling returns, "Guppy, we have been pals now for some years!" Mr. Guppy replies, "Jobling, we have." They then shake hands, and Mr. Jobling adds in a feeling manner, "Thank you, Guppy. I don't know but what I will take another glass, for old acquaintance sake."

"Krook's last ledger died there," observes Mr. Guppy, in an accidental way.

"Did he though?" says Mr. Jobling.

"There was a verdict. Accidental death. You don't mind that?"

"No," says Mr. Jobling, "I don't mind it; but he might have as well have died somewhere else. It's devilish odd that he need go and die at my place!" Mr. Jobling quite resents this liberty: several times returning to it with such remarks as "There are places enough to die in, I should think!" or, "He wouldn't have liked my dying at his place, I dare say!"

However, the compact being virtually made, Mr. Guppy proposes to dispatch the trusty Smallweed to ascertain if Mr Krook is at home, as in that case they may complete the negotiation without delay. Mr. Jobling approving, Smallweed puts himself under the fall but and conveys it out of the dining-rooms in the Guppy manner. He soon returns with the intelligence that Mr. Krook is at home, and that he has seen him through the shop-door, sitting in his back premises, sleeping. "Like one o'clock."

"Then I'll pay," says Mr. Guppy, "and we'll go and see him. Small, what will it be?"

Mr. Smallweed, compelling the attendance of the waitress with one hitch of his eyelash instantly replies as follows: "Four veals and lams is three and four potatoes is three and four and one summer cabbage is three and six and three unattows is four and six and six breads is five and three Cheshires is five and three and four pints of half-and-half is six and three and four small rums is eight and three and three Pollys is eight and six. Eight and six is half a sovereign, Polly, and eighteen-pence out!"

Not at all excited by these stupendous calculations, Smallweed dismisses his friends with a cool nod, and remains behind to take a little admiring notice of Polly, as opportunity may serve, and to read the daily papers: which are so very large in proportion to himself, shorn of his hat, that when he holds up The Times to rest his eye over the columns, he seems to have retired for the night, and to have disappeared under the bedclothes.

Mr. Guppy and Mr. Jobling repair to the rag and bottle shop, where they find Krook still sleeping like one o'clock; that is to say, breathing stertorously with his chin upon his breast, and quite insensible to any external sounds, or even to gentle shaking. On the table beside him, among the usual lumber, stand an empty gin bottle and a glass. The unwholesome air is so stained with this liquor, that even the green eyes of the cat upon her shelf as they open and shut and glimmer on the visitors, look drunk.

"Hold up here!" says Mr. Guppy, giving the relaxed figure of the old, man another shake.—"Mr. Krook! Hallon, sir!"

But it would seem as easy to wake a bundle of old clothes, with a spirituous heat smouldering in it. "Did you ever see such a stupor as he falls into, between drink and sleep?" says Mr. Guppy.

"If this is his regular sleep," returns Jobling, rather alarmed, "it'll last a long time one of these days, I am thinking."

"It's always more like a fit than a nap," says Mr. Guppy, shaking him again. "Hallon, your lordship! Why he might be robbed, fifty times over! Open your eyes!"

After much ado, he opens them, but without appearing to see his visitors, or any other objects. Though he crosses one leg on another, and folds his hands, and several times closes and opens his parched lips, he seems to all intents and purposes as insensible as before.

"He is alive at any rate," says Mr. Guppy.—"How are you my Lord Chancellor. I have brought a friend of mine, sir, on a little matter of business."

The old man still sits, often smacking his dry lips, without the least consciousness. After some minutes, he makes an attempt to rise. They help him up, and he staggers against the wall, and stares at them.

"How do you do, Mr. Krook?" says Mr. Guppy in some disconcomfiture. "How do you do, sir?—You are looking charming, Mr. Krook. I hope you are pretty well?"

The old man, in aiming a purposeless blow at Mr. Guppy, or at nothing, feebly swings himself round and comes with his face against the wall. So he remains for a minute or two, heaped up against it; and then staggers down the shop to the front door. The air, the movement in the court, the lapse of time, or the combination of these things, recover him. He comes back pretty steadily, adjusting his fur cap on his head, and looking keenly at them.

"Your servant, gentlemen; I've been dozing. Hi! I am hard to wake, odd times."

"Rather so, indeed, sir," responds Mr. Guppy.

"What! You've been a-trying to do it, have you?" says the suspicious Krook.

"Only a little," Mr. Guppy explains.

The old man's eye resting on the empty bottle, he takes it up, examines it, and slowly tilts it upside down.

"I say!" he cries, like the Hobgoblin in the story. "Some body's been making free here!"

"I assure you we found it so," says Mr. Guppy. "Would you allow me to get it filled for you?"

"Yes, certainly I would!" cried Krook, in high glee. "Certainly I would! Don't mention it! Get it filled next door—Sol's Arms—the Lord Chancellor's fourteenpenny. Bless you, they know me!"

He so presses the empty bottle upon Mr. Guppy, that that gentleman, with a nod to his friend, accepts the trust, and hurries out and hurries in again with the bottle filled. The old man receives it in his arms like a beloved grandchild, and pats it tenderly.

"But I say!" he whispers, with his eyes screwed up after tasting it, "this ain't the Lord Chancellor's fourteenpenny. This is eighteenpenny!"

"I thought you might like that better," says Mr. Guppy.

"You're a nobleman, sir," returns Krook, with another taste—and his hot breath seems to come towards them like a flame. "You're a baron of the land!"

Taking advantage of this auspicious moment, Mr. Guppy presents his friend under the impromptu name of Mr. Weevle, and states the object of their visit. Krook, with his bottle under his arm (he never gets beyond a certain point of either drunkenness or sobriety), takes time to survey his proposed lodger, and seems to approve of him. "You'd like to see the room, young man?" he says. "Ah! It's a good room! Been white-washed. Been cleaned down with soft soap and soda. Hi! It's worth twice the rent; letting alone my company when you want it, and such a cat to keep the mice away."

Commending the room after this manner, the old man takes them up-stairs, where indeed they do find it cleaner than it used to be, and also containing some old articles of furniture which he has dug up from his lucubratory little storey. The terms are easily concluded—for the Lord Chancellor cannot be heard of in Mr. Guppy, associated as he is with Kenge and Carboy, Jarndyce and Jarndyce, and other famous claims on his professional consideration—and it is agreed that Mr. Weevle shall take possession on the morrow. Mr Weevle and Mr. Guppy then repair to Cook's Court, Cursitor street, where the personal introduction of the former to Mr. Snagsby is effected, and (more important) to Mrs. Snagsby's sister, the cousin of Mrs. Snagsby are seemed. They then report progress to the eminent Smallweed, waiting at the office in his tall hat for that purpose, and separate; Mr. Guppy explaining that he would terminate his little entertainment by standing treat at the play, but that there are chords in the human mind which would render it a hollow mockery.

On the morrow, in the dusk of the evening, Mr. Weevle modestly appears at Krook's, by no means incommoded with luggage, and establishes himself in his new lodging; where the two eyes in the shutters stare at him in his sleep, as if they were full of wonder. On the following day Mr. Weevle, who is a handy good-for-nothing kind of a young fellow, borrows a needle and thread of Miss Flite, and a hammer of his landlord, and goes to work devising apologies for window curtains, and knocking up two apologies for shelves, and hanging up his two teacups, milkpot, and crockery sundries on a pennyworth of little hooks, like a shipwrecked sailor making the best of it.

But what Mr. Weevle prizes most, of all his few possessions (next after his light whiskers, for which he has an attachment that only whiskers can awaken, the breast of a man), is a choice collection of copper-plate impressions from that national wick, The Divinities of Albion, or Galaxy Gallery of British Beauty, representing ladies of title and fashion in every variety of shirt; that art, combined with capital, is capable of producing. With these magnificent portraits, meritoriously confined in a bandbox during his seclusion among the markes of gravity, he decorates his apartment; and as the Galaxy Gallery of British Beauty wears every variety of fancy dress, plays every variety of musical instrument, and fondles every variety of dog, ogles every variety of prospect, and is backed up by every variety of flowerpot and balustrade, the result is very imposing.

But fashion is Mr. Weevle's, as it was Tony Jobling's weakness. To borrow yesterday's paper from Sols' Arms of an evening and read about the brilliant and distinguished meteors that are shooting across the fashionable sky in every direction, is unspeakable consolation to him. To know what member of what brilliant and distinguished circle accomplished the brilliant and distinguished feat of joining it yesterday, or contemplates the less brilliant and distinguished feat of leaving it to-morrow, gives him a thrill of joy. To be informed what the Galaxy Gallery of British Beauty is about, and means to be about and what Galaxy marriages are on the tapis, and what Galaxy rumors are in circulation, is to become acquainted with the most glorious destinies of mankind. Mr. Weevle reverts from this intelligence, to the Galaxy portraits implicated; and seems to know the originals, and to be known of them.

For the rest he is a quiet lodger, full of handy shifts and devices as before mentioned, able to cook and clean for himself as well as to carpenter, and developing social inclinations after the shades of evening have fallen on the court. At those times, when he was not visited by Mr. Guppy, or by a small light in his likeness quenched in a flat hat, he comes out of his dull room—where he has inherited the dead wilderness of desk bespattered with a rain of ink—and talks to Krook, or is "very free," as they call in the court, remarkably, with any one disposed for conversation.—Wherefore, Mrs. Piper, who leads the court, is impelled to offer two remarks to Mrs. Perkins:—Firstly, that if her Johnny was to have whiskers, she could not wish 'em to be indistinctly like that young man's; and secondly, Mark my words, Mrs. Perkins, ma'am, and don't you be surprised, Lord bless you, if that young man comes in at last for old Krook's money.

A Protective Tariff and Railroad Iron.

The effects of a low tariff and cheap iron, have been seen in the thousands of miles of railroad, and the net-work of tracks that are crossing the country in every direction. Cheap iron induces the construction of railroads. At 60 dollars a ton, we should not have seen the rails laid between Milwaukee and the Mississippi river in 20 years —News.

We are glad to see the News take up this subject of Railroad Iron, in its relation to our M. and M. railroad. Two years ago the company could get American iron at $45 per ton, and a much better article than the English at $48@$50. The English manufacturers, with the aid and comfort of the Anti-Home-Labor policy of our "democratic" friends, set themselves at work to break down this impudent Yankee competition. What right had the Pennsylvanians to manufacture iron rails for American railroads—the very best of rails—and take in exchange the wheat, corn, pork &c., &c., of the West? of Wisconsin? The thing wasn't proper, in John Bull's eyes. So John sends his rails over here by the thousands of tons, reducing the price (as well as the quality,) and taking our promises to pay. Meantime, the California gold which should remain here for circulation, flows to England in a steady stream. Meantime, the Western farmer has to watch the changes of the English climate, and the progress of the potato rot, to see whether he is to be paid for his toil, for the Pennsylvania and other American rolling mills are closed—large numbers of them sold out by the Sheriff, and the operatives gone to raising food to keep soul and body together.—Now comes the result. John Bull has broken down all competition, and he puts up his prices!—There are no American rolling mills to furnish rails at $45 per ton, and so the Milwaukee and Mississippi Railroad Co., has to pay $50 per ton to English Manufacturers for them, and the price is steadily advancing. What hinders the foreign marker from putting them up to $75 per ton?—Nothing at all, except the fear that just now, when a Presidential election is pending, it might open the eyes of the American people to the truth. So they will advance gradually until the election is over, when, if there should be a decided majority in Congress in favor of British policy, and Mr. Pierce, that "valuable ally" of such a policy, should unhappily be elected, they will run up their price to a figure that will astonish some folks on this side of the water.

N. B.—Pennsylvania is expected to vote for the party which has closed her factories, of course.

HARBORS AND RIVERS.

The Sentinel admits, that 15 whigs in Congress, voted against the River and Harbor bill, and that 18 whigs dodged—making 33 whigs against the bill.

Yes; the Sentinel admits that out of about 112 whigs in Congress, 15 only were found who voted against that bill. The Sentinel also admits that as many as 18 were absent, or dodged—we don't know which; leaving nearly 80 voting for the bill.

Now look at the record on the other side. No less than 53 "democrats" voted No; adding to these 39 who were absent or dodged, and we have no less than 122 'democrats' who were against the bill. Their sum total is 175 in both Houses; so that we have a remarkable state of things, showing that while three fourths of the Whigs were in favor, very near three fourths of the "democrats" were against the bill. Or,—to state the actual vote—in a total of 138 votes, the whigs and free soilers gave 85, and the "regular democracy" 53! And yet the latter claim to have passed the bill!

THE GAS WORKS.

In company with Mr. Lockwood, the efficient Manager of the Milwaukee Gas Works, we paid a visit yesterday to the extensive buildings, now nearly completed, which the Company are putting up on Jefferson Street in the Third Ward. The buildings have a front, towards the Lake, of 240 feet and the facade is a remarkably handsome one. The centre building, which is the Retort House, is very substantially built of Milwaukee brick, 52 feet by 62 in dimensions, 29 feet in height from the ground to the eaves, and covered with a sheet iron roof supported on a frame work of wrought iron bars. On either side of the main building are wings, about 80 feet by 30, intended for Offices, store-rooms &c. On the land side of the Retort House, rises the chimney, 60 feet in height, composed of a square pedestal surmounted by a graceful Egyptian shaft. We doubt whether a handsomer stock can be found in the West. North of the Retort House is the Gasometer, composed of two circular, concentric brick walls; the outer two feet thick, and the inner one foot; covered by a sheet-iron top, in two sections, closing in one upon the other, like the cover of a telescope. It is called from this a Telescopic Gasometer, and is believed to be the only one of the kind in the West. The Gasometer is 70 feet 6 inches in diameter, and 22 feet deep.

The Gasometer is the great Reservoir for the Gas. In the Retort House are 12 furnaces, each arranged for three retorts: making 36 in all. Eighteen, however, are all that will be required for the present. The Gas, generated in these retorts by the burning of bituminous coal, passes into the Hydraulic Main, and thence, thro' a series of large pipes, into the Washers. In these it is forced through a sheet of pure water, which is constantly replenished, and deprived of a portion of its impurities. From the Washers it is conducted to the Purifiers, plates of iron covered with Floor of lime, thro' which the Gas is again forced and thus divested of any remaining impurities Thus prepared for use, the Gas is conducted into the Gasometer, and thence, as required, to the "Governor," where it is subjected to the necessary pressure and despatched, on its errand of Light, to all parts of the city.

The Company have had about 100 men constantly employed, for several months past, in putting up these buildings and laying pipe. We learn from Mr. Lockwood that about five and a half miles of pipe have been already laid, and that it is contemplated to put down about seven miles in all. The coal used in the manufacture of the Gas comes from Erie and Cleveland. The first day of November is the time fixed for the completion of the buildings, and the "first appearance" of the Gas. With good weather we see no reason to doubt that all will be in readiness by that time. Every part of the work thus far has been done up in the best style and with a system and completeness that cannot fail to have impressed every observer. Our city is to be congratulated, not only upon the possession of Gas-works, but in that the construction and management of these works has fallen into such competent and trust-worthy hands.

THE M. AND M. RAIL ROAD.—The rails are laid and the road finished to Whitewater, 51 miles from this city, and on Monday next the Cars will run regularly to and from that point. On the Thursday following, the 30th instant, the People of Whitewater hold a jubilee in honor of this auspicious event. A goodly Delegation is expected from this city. A Public Dinner is to be served in the Company's Depot, and a grand Ball will be given, in the evening, in the same spacious apartment.

MEYERS UNIVERSUM, No. 6.—The present number illustrates the scenery of four of the most interesting countries in Europe. Spain, Switzerland, Italy and Hungary. The views are those of the Roman Aqueduct at Segovia, the valley of Charmount, Civita Castellana, the state prison for political offenders of the Roman states, and the Castle of Illock in Southern Hungary

A capital review of Gorgey's conduct accompanies the latter engraving.

FOR BUFFALO.—The steamer Sultana, Capt. APPLEBY, after a rough trip up, brought a large cargo of freight safely in yesterday morning, and a goodly number of passengers, who seem, by their card in another column, to have been well pleased with boat and officers. The Sultana goes down to-night from Higby's pier. For passage apply to H. K. JEROME, agent, or Main st., next to the corner of Huron.

A BUSY DAY.—Our streets were crowded with teams yesterday. Nearly twenty thousand bushels of grain came in by Rail Road and in wagons. The Rail Road trains, in and out, were heavy ones, and large quantities of goods, were loaded up and despatched to their interior.

Close up the Ranks!

The Whig Nominations for Electors and Congressmen are now complete. They will be found under the usual head in our columns. Our nominees for Congress, Messrs. DURAND, ABBOTT and SHAFTER, are staunch whigs, unflinching friends of HOME INDUSTRY and HARBOR IMPROVEMENTS, zealous and efficient advocates of Western Interests, and in all respects worthy standard-bearer in the SCOTT ranks. Let it be our care to see that they receive the earnest and united support of the friends of SCOTT AND GRAHAM throughout the State. CLOSE UP THE RANKS!

MISSOURI ELECTION.—The last St. Louis Republican contains the official returns of the late Congressional election. We give the totals.

1*st District.*—Benton (Benton) 8437, Bogy (dem.) 2566, Carathurs (W.) 2595.

2*d district*;—Lamb (dem.) 7007, Porter (w) 6224.

3*d district*:—Green (dem) 7859, Miller (w) 8307.

4*th district*;—King (dem.) 4243, Birch (dem.) 4452, Oliver (whig) 7612.

5*th district*:—Phelps (dem.) 11,392, Price (w(5468.

"PIERCE AND KING" DEMONSTRATION.—A tremendous effort is to be made to get up a "Pierce and King" Mass Meeting in this city on the 28th inst., Gen. CASS, Gen. HOUSTON, Mr. DOUGLAS, JOHN VAN BUREN and other speakers are "positived," by way of attracting a crowd. The leaders must be getting awfully scared about Wisconsin when so many political Doctors are sent for to prescribe for the patient! But it's no use, gentlemen. Hunker Democracy in this State is past praying for!

ANOTHER SOUP BOWL SMASHED.—The Sentinel of Tuesday gave what pretended to be a statement from the Cincinnati Volksblatt, that 132 German Democrats had determined to vote the Whig ticket.

The Volksblatt published a document signed by 132 German Democrats, bolting from the democratic party, and we made mention of the fact.—It seems to trouble the News badly, but it is nothing to what that paper has got to hear.

SYMPTOMS OF "BOLTING."—The Wisconsin of last evening "HURRAHS FOR WEBSTER," and publishes a call for a Convention at Madison to nominate a Webster electoral ticket, which it invites "Whig and Democratic papers" to copy.—This is a sensible move. The best thing the Wisconsin and its sort of Democrats can do is to desert PIERCE and declare for WEBSTER.

"DOLLY" IN A RAGE.—Our "favorable allusion" to the Wisconsin's Judicial antics seems to have bit that sensitive journal in a tender spot. "Dolly" makes mouths and calls names after the most approved Billingsgate fashion. Funny dog!

MR. HALE COMING.—The Free Democrat publishes a letter from JOHN P. HALE, announcing his purpose of visiting Wisconsin and spending at least four days in the State. The time of his visit is not yet fixed.

WHIG CONVENTION—THE FIRST CONGRESSIONAL DISTRICT.

At a meeting of Whig Delegates assembled at Waterford, Sept. 22d, 1852, for the purpose of nominating a candidate for member of Congress, A. L. CASTLEMAN was appointed temporary Chairman, and F. P. BAKER Sec'y.

On motion of W. W. BROWN, a committee on credentials was appointed, consisting of W. W. BROWN, A. T. SHERMAN and H. T. FULLER, who after examination, reported the following names as members of the Convention:

Milwaukee County.

Senatorial Districts.—James D. Merrill, Wm. S. Trowbridge.

Assembly Districts.—John H. Tweedy, John B. Ryan, W. W. Brown, W. A. Hawkins, W. E. Hibbard, J. C. Heward, Wm. Brown, Jr., and A. J. Langworthy.

Waukesha County.

Senatorial.—E. Enos, Jr., and Erskine Glasebury.

Assembly.—A. T. Sherman, A. L. Castleman, B. A. Jenkins, and Richard Cooling.

Racine County.

Senatorial.—Cha'n. Chase.

Assembly.—H. T. Fuller, F. P. Baker, S. E. Chapman and Joseph Nelson.

Walworth County.

Senatorial.—J. Spooner.

Assembly.—Henry Allen, John Wilcox, Elias Hibbard, S. H. Stafford and Geo. Hibbard.

Kenosha County.

Senatorial.—Alexander H. Peters.

Assembly.—Wallace Mygatt, and S. King.

Report accepted and adopted.

A Committee on permanent organization was then appointed consisting of the following named persons:

E. Enos, Jr., Waukesha, C. C. Chase, Racine. Samuel King, Kenosha, Pliny Allen, Walworth, and W. B. Hibbard of Milwaukee, who reported the following named persons as officers of the Convention:

President.—ELIAS HIBBARD of Walworth.

Vice Presidents.—JOHN H. TWEEDY, Milwaukee; SAMUEL E. CHAPMAN, Racine.

Secretaries.—ERSKINE STANSBERY Waukesha Co., A. H. PETERS, Kenosha.

On motion a candidate for Elector was first voted for, when HIRAM TUTTLE of Kenosha Co. was declared unanimously nominated Presidential Elector for the District.

An informal ballot was then taken for a candidate to represent the District in Congress, with the following result:

R. W. Wright	5
H. S. Durand	3
Jno H. Tweedy	1
C. S. Chase	1
Total	20

Whereupon H. S. DURAND, of Racine, was declared unanimously nominated.

On motion of E. Enos, Jr., a Central Congressional Committee was appointed, consisting of REYES KING of Milwaukee, H. T. FULLER, Racine, EDWIN HODGES, Walworth, E. ENOS Jr. Waukesha and H. TUTTLE, Kenosha.

The following resolutions were unanimously adopted by the Convention:

Resolved, That the protection of American Industry by a tariff discriminating in favor of the products of home labor against the rival products of the pauper labor of Europe has always been a cardinal doctrine of the whig party—and ought to be reaffirmed with emphasis and confidence by the Whigs of Wisconsin.

Resolved, That the Whigs as a party, have uniformly and steadfastly advocated, and efficiently supported the improvement of Harbors and Navigable Waters of the West and North, as well as of the Atlantic Coast, and that the Whigs, as a party, can alone be relied upon for the continued and more successful prosecution of that policy of the General Government.

A. J. Langworthy offered the following, which was unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That in the nomination of Henry S. Durand, of Racine, for Congress, we have a nominee of sterling business qualifications, who is sound on the Tariff question, and on that of Rivers and Harbor Improvements; whose energy of character is an earnest, that if elected, the Congressional business of the District will be done passably and faithfully, and we cordially recommend him to the hearty support of every Whig voter in the Counties he is nominated to represent. It was further

Resolved, That the proceedings be published in the Whig papers of the District.

And the Convention adjourned.

ELIAS HIBBARD, President.

OHIO STATE FAIR.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 18, 1852.

Eds. Sentinel:

The State Fair just concluded, was by all odds, the best ever held in the State, and I may say, in the Union. The number present was probably not far from 75,000. The receipts for admission amounted to $13,000, being $6,000 more than those of any previous fair. The exhibition of stock was excellent, and showed a great improvement over that of former years. The number of horses entered was unusually large. The finest were of the Eclipse and Morgan breeds. The display of sheep was extensive, but not particularly rare. The French Merinos attracted special attention. The poultry department was well filled with all the varieties of Dorking's, Cochin China's, and Shanghae's, and was one of the most interesting features of the occasion. The farm products of Ohio did well, but nothing to boast of. One of the most astounding objects in that line, was a cheese weighing 1500 lbs., manufactured at Aurora, in this State. The parade of flowers and horticultural treasures, was quite large and pretty—but neither very rare nor various.

In mechanical inventions, this fair was preeminent. Among the most meritorious, I may mention Manny's Northern Illinois Threshing and Mowing machine. It performs equally well in grass and grain, doing the work as smoothly as the most expert user of the scythe or cradle.—The Threshing Machine of Emory and Co., of Albany, N. Y. was very much admired. Hall & Speer, of Pittsburgh, sent in their patent iron sub-soil ploughs, which met with very general favor. Messrs. Nagley and Homan, of the same city, contributed a large assortment of minor agricultural implements, manufactured by them.—Their steel strapped shovels, and Carolina hoes, are capital specimens of American skill and labor. Messrs. Duryee, Forsyth & Co., of Rochester, N. Y., bore away the palm for Rail Road Scales.—The contest among sewing machines (three of which were on the ground) resulted in the triumph of Aiken & Felthausen's patent, of Ithaca, N. Y. The friendly strife amid these busy little servitors of the human family, was one of the most attractive features of the fair. A cider mill and press entered by Mr. Gardner, of Ohio City, pleased me much. It excels in compactness, strength and economy.

The arrangements of the fair were very complete, and every thing went off harmoniously. A large police force kept up a constant surveillance, and few cases of pocket picking occurred within the enclosure. The Clevelanders treated their numerous visitors hospitably, and sent them away in good humor. The annual address was delivered by Prof. Mapes, of New Jersey, in place of Daniel Webster, who was prevented from attending by indisposition. The premiums awarded are worth $4000, of which $2000 is in silver.

N.

VERMONT.—The new Senate stands 22 whigs, 5 Pierce, 3 free soilers. The new House, whig, 111, all others, 100. The vote for Governor shows a whig majority over the regular Loco candidate of over 5000. Mr. Fairbanks, the Whig candidate, lacks about 700 of a majority over all. Compared with the popular vote of 1848, the whigs have gained 3000.

IMMIGRATION.—During the three days ending Sept. 16th, 8182 passengers arrived at New York from foreign ports, all from across the Atlantic.

A CARD.

ON BOARD STEAMER SULTANA, Sept. 22d, 1852.

We the undersigned, passengers on board the Steamer Sultana being about to separate, cannot, in justice, allow the opportunity to pass without expressing our heartfelt thanks to Capt. C. W. APPLEBY, for his unwearied and watchful care of us and our interests while on board. Though our trip has been somewhat prolonged, owing to exceedingly boisterous gales, we cannot but speak in the highest praise, also, of his noble vessel.

We would also include, with the highest sentiments of attachment, Mr. JOHN TAYLOR, Clerk, Mr OSCAR BLANCHARD, Steward, and other officers of the Boat, for their constant exertions to make each and every one of us feel at home.

As many of us make semi-annual trips on the Lake between Buffalo and Chicago, we would call the attention of travelers, either on pleasure or business, to the worthy Capt. of the Sultana, whose care of us and his vessel, warrants us in saying we have met with but few his equals—nor can we speak in higher terms of the table and attentions of the Chamberman and waiters.

THE MAINE ELECTION.—We give the result for Governor in 308 towns. Hubbard falls about 10,000 short of an election. We also continue our table for members of Congress. Thus far, in three districts, the Whig gain is 1230, as follows:—In the 4th district, 3080; in the 2nd, 1758; and in the 5th, 2557. After such a result, who can doubt that the state of Maine will cast her Electoral vote for General Scott, who is much more popular than any Whig candidate in the State?—Boston Mail, 17th.

THE WEBSTER MOVEMENT.—Old Faneuil Hall, at Boston, will hold 5000 people. The factious "solid men of Boston" called a Mass State Convention to nominate a Webster Electoral ticket, and succeeded in gathering a tremendous assembly of 250 persons. Not a single Whig of any note took part in the meeting. The movement will have the excellent result of calling out a heavier vote for Scott.

☞ The Madison Democrat claims Mr. SHAFTER, the Whig nominee in the Third Congressional District, as its "personal friend," and therefore upon proceeds to abuse him in good set terms.—This last labor was superfluous. What worse could it say of him than that Mr. SHAFTER is its "friend"?

THE JUDICIAL ELECTION.—The Racine Advocate, a democratic paper, which warmly supports the Independent Judicial ticket, closes an earnest appeal to its readers, to vote on Monday next for the Independent candidates, with the following paragraphs:

We look upon this election as one of great importance; as one that will settle the question as to whether we are to have an independent judiciary, or a party judiciary. We look upon it as far more important in this view, that the first nomination be broken down, than on account of the men nominated. We can all feel that the question on the election of the Hunker ticket is not whether the men are capable, but whether the judiciary cannot be pressed into the service of party; whether it cannot be made a bait for lawyers.

If it is to be so, these Judges thus nominated as party men, ought to take the stump. Let them wrap their robes round them and electioneer. If they are to be chosen merely as politicians, let them do the work of politicians, address the people, work, win popularity. They must come to it, if the office is to be a political one, and they ought to begin now. If their present nomination as politicians won't shock the people, their electioneering can't do it—ought not to do it.

Connecticut Preparing!

New-London, Conn., Thursday, Sept. 15, 1852.

To the Editor of the N. Y. Daily Tribune:

Perhaps, sir, you think that Connecticut is rather backward in the Presidential struggle, but such is not the fact.

Last evening the Whigs of this place held a meeting and formed a Scott and Graham Club. Over 1,000 names were enrolled as members.

It was the most enthusiastic meeting that has been held in this place for a number of years.

Connecticut will surely give Scott from 5,000 to 6,000 majority.

Yours truly,

ROWLAND F. CONKLIN, Sec.

LOCO FOCOISM IN THE LONDON MARKET.—The Pierce and King organ in England (the London Times) learns, on the very reliable authority of our own correspondent in New York, that

"The mass meetings for Pierce and King are characterized by great and growing enthusiasm; while the cause for Scott and Graham are few in number and cold in spirit."

These falsehoods are uttered to excite the hopes of the Free Traders in Great Britain, and to encourage the belief that John Bull, with Loco Foco help, is going to whip Gen. Scott in November next. N. Y. Express.

☞ We learn that one or two of the nominees for the bench on the first ticket—the political ticket, have descended to electioneering and base their claims to office upon their party servility—let them. The candidates on the independent ticket will resort to no such demagogue attempts, but will leave it to the people to declare which they prefer—Judges or political partizans. —Racine Advocate.

THE RACINE CO. AGRICULTURAL FAIR.—The executive committee of the above Society, at a preliminary meeting on the 11th instant passed the following resolution:

Resolved, That this Society will forward to the State Fair such productions exhibited at our County Fair, consisting of Stock, Manufactures, Fruits, &c., as are selected by an Examining committee; and the premiums on such productions may draw shall be paid into the treasurer of this Society.

KENOSHA WATER CURE.

DR. H. T. SEELEY, late of Chicago, has recently fitted up the large and commodious buildings, known as the National Hotel, at Kenosha, Wisconsin, and is now prepared to receive patients, who wish to be treated on strictly Hydropathic principles.

Dr. Seeley has had several years experience in this mode of practice, and the universal success attending it, thus far, enables him to say with confidence to those who are seeking the recovery of their health by this efficient method of cure, that he will guarantee as thorough and judicious treatment as can be obtained at any Water-cure in the United States.

The house is sufficiently retired to make it pleasant, and commands a fine view of the Lake. The water used is soft and pure. For further information, address

Milwaukee Nursery for Sale.

THE Subscribers offer for sale their NURSERY, containing 35 acres of land, with over 80,000 Fruit Trees, of from one to five years' growth, and 2 or 300 large Standard Trees of Apple Pear, Cherry, Plum and Quince, a majority of which are in bearing now, so that the quality of the fruit can be ascertained.

Similar interests elsewhere, are the only inducements we have in selling, as the business is profitable, and our nursery stock surpasses, probably, any Nursery in the State. The Nursery is situated 2½ miles from the city, on the plank Road to Watertown, and a few rods from the Cold Spring Road, in the Second County Farm. For sale to be held this Fall. If not sold by 1st November, we will offer our stock for sale at extremely low rates, and sell the land in quantities to suit purchasers.

We have also, a number of the above, about FORTY APPLE—THREE PEAR, and FOUR CHERY TREES, of large size, which we will sell. Some of them have to be moved by the 15th inst.

Any information wanted will be given by calling at the Nursery, or addressing the subscribers. Term liberal.

THE WORLD'S FAIR PREMIUM SAFES.

DEPOT,

Green Block, Water St.,

(Between Maiden Lane and Wall Street,)

NEW YORK.

THE SUBSCRIBER is placed his FIRE AND BURGLAR-Proof Iron Safe in competition with the whole world at the great Exhibition in London, for which an imperial jury awarded a medal.

The American Safe, held last fall at Castle Garden, also awarded to him a gold medal for the best Fire-Proof Safe, and he has never failed to obtain the highest premium when his Safe has been put in competition with others for that purpose. Certificates have been received from the following well-known mercantile houses, who have had their books, papers and money preserved in these superior Safes while in the last three days, (and can, with many others, be seen at my store,) viz. Messrs. Stillwell & Montross, and Mr. J. L. Watkins, in the Fulton Street fire; Messrs. Fisher & Robinson, and Messrs. John Lockwood & Co., in the great fire corner of Liberty and Nassau Streets, and Messrs. Proud & Bowman, in Jersey City.

I am the proprietor of HALL'S PATENT LOCK, which obtained a medal (in the name of Adams & Co., Boston,) at the World's Exhibition, and is considered the best Lock for the price, ever invented, being proof against powder, and the Key is no larger than a pen, and can be made changeable.

I invite all purchasers to a close and careful investigation before purchasing, and decide for themselves, who makes the best Fire, Burglar and Damp-Proof Safes combined.

IMPORTANT TO THE PUBLIC!

THE following advertisement was published in May, 1849, in the "Boston Daily Times," and various other newspapers in the United States, by James G. Wilson, Esq., the owner of the "Woodworth Patent," shortly after I had advertised my "PATENT STATION-ARY CUTTER, PLANING, TONGUING AND GROOVING MACHINE," throughout the United States:

"PLANING MACHINES.

"I take this method of answering the frequent inquiries, by letter and otherwise, as to my opinion upon the various notices through the papers, of the Stationary Knife Planing Machines attempted to be palmed off upon several persons ignorant of their true worth. I would state for the information of the enquirers that they will find substantially the machine now offered to the public by certain inventors, described in the 10th volume of the Repertory of Arts, invented by Samuel Beatham, in the year 1791. A like machine was patented in this country by one Knight, some six or eighteen years since, and another one put up by Alden, Richards, of West Troy, N. Y., and abandoned about the same time. It must be satisfactorily proved to me that after eight years experimenting upon these machines, not one in use is of any value for the purposes contemplated.

I will furnish a Stationary Knife Machine equal to any now in use, or to any offered by the pretending inventors, at the cost of the machine and five per cent for my trouble.

JAMES G. WILSON.

May 19, 1849. Philadelphia."

I deny that any person ever saw or heard of such a machine at mine until I invented the same. Said machine was operated in the Navy Yard, Boston, in 1848, and the machine before this could do so much work, and do it as well as mine. In reply to the above advertisement, and in order that the public may be assured that I mean what I say, I will offer to pledge ONE THOUSAND DOLLARS against an equal amount from said Wilson, that ONE of my machines will plane, or plane, tongue and groove with less power, as much lumber in the same time, and do it as well, or better than TWO of the "Woodworth" machines. The trial to be made at my Steam Mill, Border St., East Boston, Mass., or at such other place as may be convenient for such a trial.
